

sires fco propitiate the mind of the gods, overcomes
those who are no sacrifices

18. To him 111 this life is a valiant progeny, to him are swift herds of horses; the cele*>rator of the sacrifice, who desires to propitiate the mind of the gods, overcomes those who are no sacrificers.

THIRD ADHYAYA,

MANDALA VIII. CONTINUED.

ANUV-IKA V. CONTINUED.

SitoL II. (XXXII.)

is the deity; the Rlshi is]&f3mlTrrHi, of the race oi the metre is Gdyatri.

Varga I. 1. Celebrate with songs the great deeds of LSTDRA, the drinker of the stale Sowa, when in his exhilaration.*

2. The fierce (deity) who, liberating the waters, has slain SEIBESDA, AKAJRSA^I, PIPHTT, and the slave f
Am SUVA.

3. Pierce the rain-holding domain of the vast AUBTJBA : achieve, IKDHA, this manly exploit.

4. I invoke the victorious handsome-jawed IKDKA for your protection, and to hear (your praises), as (a traveller invokes) the water from the cloud.¹

¹ Tiirndsam no> girer adhi. Sayana quotes "YdsJca 5. 1 6. for

* Sayana seems to explain this:
"Proclaim the deeds of the stale Soma, in. the words of Indra wheu filled with exhilaration.."

f Sayana makes Ddsa another proper name.

*Ahisuvam cJwc

JDdsam

cha